The Jesup Memorial Library
OF BAR HARBOR

RULES

1—Summer visitors by depositing $1.00 (which is returned at the end of the season) and paying two cents a day for each book, may take at one time three books—one new and two old publications.

2.—Summer visitors on payment of $4.00 as a donation to the Library, may take at one time three books—one new and two old publications.

3—Summer visitors on payment of $10.00 as a donation to the Library may take at one time two new and four old publications.

4—The Library books are free to all permanent residents of Bar Harbor, with the exception of the new books for which two cents a day is charged from May 15th to October 15th.

5—Persons holding books beyond the date stamped on the slip inside of the cover must pay a fine of two cents a day.

6—Books which are defaced must be replaced at the expense of the person defacing them.

7—Children under fourteen shall be allowed access only to the book-shelves assigned them, except by special permission of the librarian.

8—No book can be taken to a house where there is contagious illness.

9—All books in a house where contagious illness has broken out, must be returned after the house has been fumigated, stating that contagious illness has existed in that house.

10—Books must be returned directly to the Library and in no case pass from one house to another.

11—Dogs are not allowed in this building.

12—Smoking, except when expressly authorized by the librarian, is forbidden.

PREFACE.

THIS volume, the forty-second of the series of "Collections" of the Society, for the year 1909, consists of two parts: first, "Ledger No. 1, Chamberlain's Office Corporation of the City of New York, May 11, 1691, to November 12, 1699," and shows a great contrast of payments made by the City at that period and the present. Unfortunately the Journal of Payments for the same years is not on file. The Society is indebted to the Hon. William A. Prendergast, Comptroller of the City of New York, for the privilege of having this interesting City document copied. The second part consists of "Indentures of Apprentices, October 21, 1718, to August 7, 1727"; the original volume was on file in the Register's Office of this City for many years and was known as "Liber 29 of Conveyances"; the volume contains Indentures of Apprenticeship only, and came into the possession of the Society in 1905, and is an interesting addition to the Indentures of Apprenticeship 1694-1708, published in the "Collections" for 1885.
